ORDER

20 CV 6929 (VB)

The Court conducted an initial conference today in the above matter, at which counsel for defendants appeared by telephone. Plaintiffs' counsel failed to appear, without excuse or explanation. During the conference, counsel for defendants stated that he had conferred with plaintiffs' counsel regarding the pending motion for conditional certification of a collective action (Doc. #16), and the parties intend to enter into an agreement regarding conditional certification and notice of the collective action. In addition, on December 8, 2020, counsel for defendants filed the parties' proposed civil case discovery plan and scheduling order. (Doc. #22). The proposed order indicates that all parties consent to conducting all further proceedings before a Magistrate Judge. (Id.). Accordingly, it is HEREBY ORDERED:

1. If both parties still intend to consent to conducting all further proceedings before Magistrate Judge Judith C. McCarthy, by December 21, 2020, parties shall fully execute and file with the Court a Notice, Consent, and Reference of a Civil Action to a Magistrate Judge form, the blank form for which is attached to this order (and also available at <https://nysd.uscourts.gov/sites/default/files/2018-06/AO-3.pdf>). If the Court approves that form, all further proceedings will then be conducted before Magistrate Judge McCarthy rather than before me. An information sheet on proceedings before magistrate judges is also attached to this Order. Any appeal would be taken directly to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

2. If both parties still intend to enter into an agreement regarding conditional certification and notice of the collective action, by December 21, 2020, parties shall file their stipulation regarding conditional certification and notice of the collective action.

United States District Court
Southern District of New York

UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGES: REFERRALS AND CONSENTS

All cases in the Southern District of New York are assigned to two judges: a district judge and a magistrate judge. District judges are appointed for life terms by the President. Magistrate judges are selected by a majority vote of the district judges in the particular district and serve terms of eight years.

Referrals to the Magistrate Judge: The district judge assigned to your case may refer the case to a magistrate judge for specific purposes. Commonly, the referral will be for the magistrate judge to conduct the proceedings that occur before trial, such as resolving discovery disputes or presiding over settlement conferences. A referral may also be made for the magistrate judge to issue to the district judge a report and recommendation on how to resolve a motion, such as a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment. The consent of the parties is not needed for the district judge to refer the case to the magistrate judge for these purposes. If the district judge has made such a referral, you can ask the district judge to review any magistrate judge's decision by filing an objection with the district judge within fourteen days of that decision. The district judge will rule on any timely objections that you file. If you do not file an objection, you will give up your right to challenge the magistrate judge's decision at a later time, including on appeal. See Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 72.

Consent to Proceed Before the Magistrate Judge: If you would like your case to move more quickly, it is helpful to consent to proceed before the magistrate judge for all purposes, including any trial. If all parties consent, the magistrate judge will perform the identical function that the district judge would have performed. Any trial in your case would be either a jury or a nonjury trial, depending upon whether there is a right to a jury trial and a proper request for such a trial. The only difference is that the magistrate judge – and not the district judge – would preside over that trial. Cases that proceed for all purposes before a magistrate judge generally move more quickly than cases before a district judge. If all parties consent to proceed before the magistrate judge, the district judge plays no further role in the case. Any appeal is taken directly to the Court of Appeals. It is your choice whether or not to consent to proceed before the magistrate judge.

A copy of the appropriate consent form is attached. Additional forms are also available from the Pro Se Intake Unit and on the Court's website.
